J.A. REID, REGINA AGENT GENERAL FOR ALBERTA

Appointment Made at Meeting of Executive Council Held Yesterday Afternoon

NEW OFFICIAL IS HIGHLY SPOKEN OF

Has Held Many Positions of Responsibility in Province of Saskatchewan

John Alexander Reid, of Regina, was yesterday appointed by the executive council to be agent-general for Alberta in the British Isles. The new agent-general, who is only 30 years old, has been in the service of the Canadian government for three years in western Canada, and is at present the executive commissioner of the city of Victoria, B.C. He has been here from spring of the year past, and is in charge of the legal department, and clerk of the executive council of the Saskatchewan legislature, which he had ably filled for some years.

Advantageous to Province.
During the recent visit of Premier Sifton to London arrangements were made for the opening of the new office of the agent-general, who would be called on to fill this responsible position very shortly, it is known. The advantages and possibilities of London office are obvious. As with the offices already established there by the older agents, it is expected that all sources of reliable information to all concerns concerning Alberta, commercially, industrially, financially, will be available.

The office of agent-general is one of increasing importance to a new province like Alberta, and the agent-general, in the opinion of the officials, will meet with approval on all sides. Mr. Reid is particularly well equipped for the office, having ability and thorough familiarity with Alberta resources and conditions.

John Alexander Reid.

John Alexander Reid, in 1882, in Liverpool, England, in 1882. In 1883 he came to Canada and was soon after appointed agent-general. Mr. Reid first entered the mounted police force, and then the railway was attracted to the British Columbia coast, and he became a member of the heart of the military operations. During his early years in the west, Mr. Reid was a member of the staff of the Canadian government, and was at one time editor and promoter of the Calgary Tribune (now the Morning Alberta). Mr. Reid was also for some time a valuable member of the editorial staff of the Calgary Herald.

In 1885 he went to Regina, entering the government service there. As years passed Mr. Reid was promoted to position of chief engineer and finally to the rank of general manager and director of the old territorial coalition government as well as with the Scott government after the passing of the North-West Territories Act. Some of governments might change, but Mr. Reid continued to hold office as a valued member of the service.

On Various Attachments.

The new agent-general is a thorough and shrewd金融家, a man of short and decided judgment. Moreover his industries years at Regina have left him so well versed in Canadian affairs that no legislation that few men in Canada equal his knowledge in this respect. As a member of the mounted police, a member of the government service, a member of the city committee, Mr. Reid had acquired varied and wide experience in the various west and western conditions. This will make the new agent-general a veritable treasure trove of information interested in Alberta, while his painstaking industry and judgment combined with a number of good and able assistants will be of great service to the work of upholding Alberta's interests in the old world.

He practically ruled out a policy of sending troops to the Dardanelles, but did call for a policy of maintaining the neutrality of the Dardanelles.

CUPID'S COURT

PUPPET—BOWEN.

A midsummer wedding of much interest which occurred recently in Macleod was that of Mr. Lloyd Williams, son of Mr. and Mrs. Williams, and Miss Muriel, Mrs. Laconie, and Miss Sarah Grace Bowen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Bowen, of Macleod. The ceremony was officiated by Mr. Richards, the minister.

The ceremony took place in front of a massive floral emblemation in the drawing room, the latter being artistically vastuous and the Green Manito too, who offer a distinct variety in three rings. The World's Views replace the Editor talking and moving pictures in the closing time on the Bill.

NEXT WEEK'S PANTOMIME

Theatre at the Palace next week will be composed of two headlining attractions. For the first, the management announces, Mabel Moore's "Samuel the Rude," who stars and dances very cleverly. Besides these two acts there will be the Mud Art Trio, mostly from Canada, piano players, organ players, artists, James Broome is another feature of the show, and will introduce his new music, and will make his name as one of the leading artists in the time allotted to him, as he can. The Devil Sisters are eccentric singers and dancers, while the Aerial Bartolts do some very sensational work on the wire.

MAKING HARD TIMES.

Times are hard!
This statement needs no explanation.

Times are hard because money is tight.

It is not a case of scarce money; it's a case of tight money.

In the great money-making countries of Great Britain and the United States, with which Canada is most intimately connected, money was never being made from the application of methods of industry and commerce more rapidly than it is today and has been for the past two years.

But those who are making it are keeping it, and those who have it are hoarding it. Money is plentiful but credit is scarce.

Easy credit is necessarily an accompaniment of prosperity. In practice the good times depend rather upon the ease of credit upon the abundance of money.

Hard times are the result of restricted credit rather than of scarce money.

Credit is the result of confidence. The weaker confidence is to restrict credit.

Recently Payne founded the credit of Western cities in the hope of boosting the credit of the Canadian Northern Railway. If he succeeded in benefitting the Canadian Northern as much as he has injured the Canadian cities, he is due for a big increase of salary from the C.N.R.

He did not do anything. He just got paid off. But he can see fit to a section of each Western city now on the British market for money to press forward civic improvements, he would have done less damage to the cities and their people. Perhaps he did not mean to do that; but that is what he did. At a time when Western credit needed support he struck a blow which, with the result that credit—especially municipal credit—is much more restricted than before, and times are correspondingly harder than they would have been.

But Horne-Payne was an outsider. As an outsider whatever he said was discounted by the fact. For fear he had not done enough to the Prairie West and to Canada the News-Telegram of Calgary jumps in with a whoop and sends the following circular telegram:

"Caigay, July 15.
Editor Bulletin, Edmonton.
"In view of present financial conditions the Prairie Telegrams to make demands that the people and Government of Alberta be summoned to a conference to request the Dominion Government for a loan of ten million dollars to help meet the emergency. A concerted move on the part of newspapers and leaders of trade would be most appropriate and in general conditions it would suggest that you take that matter up with your paper and let it forward to the Prairie. Such a loan would mean a whole lot to us, I think."

Whatever excuse may be made on the behalf of Horne-Payne, on the ground of ignorance of fact or responsibility for consequences, no such excuse is available to the News-Telegram. What it has done is to prove that it has been done with knowledge and therefore with malice. If the editor does not know what must be the effect of his statements so far as they receive credence he should be in safe keeping in the provincial institution at Ponoka and if he does know he is wilfully injuring his city and province and country to the extent of his ability at a time when the public welfare demands the strengthening and the bettering of private and public credit.

If a loan of ten million dollars would establish easy credit and consequent good times in Alberta, it is surely the duty of the leaders to secure such a loan. But the way to prevent easy credit and good times is to appeal for such a loan in the terms used by the News-Telegram. To represent that the province is in such dire extremity that there must be a public appeal for that amount, not on a basis of adequate security, but on the plea of abject poverty, is to put the province, its municipalities and its people out of the class to whom credit sooner or later will be money enough to go round.

Saskatchewan has renewed $5,000,000 of treasury bills in London at 6 1/4. The bills are due in January, 1913.

The Monetary Times of July 19th quotes from a letter from a representative of the Bank of Commerce as follows: "Taking all in all, I would say that, generally, conditions are better today in Canada than they were three months ago; the banks are in strong position and have their houses in order."

The Monetary Times, the leading financial paper in Canada, in its issue of July 19th, heads a lengthy article on the subject of the words "Creditors Must Be Paid." Should Not Have Their Bonds—A prevailing practice of paying commercial firms with debentures instead of cash is undesirable."

There are times when a shirk as that set up by the News-Telegram would only claim casual notice. If on a certain historic occasion the grain field of the Philistines had been given to them right here in Canada, we might have pleaded in some manner with the gods to lighted torches to tail their tails. But the record is that he indulged in that diversion at a time when the grain was ripe, with the result that a few weeks before might have been amusing although even was in fact utterly destructive not only to the crops but to the people who depended on the crops.

There are times when a newspaper even though maliciously inclined, can do little or no harm, but there are times and conditions when a paper with very little intent can do a great deal of damage. If serious damage does not result from the News-Telegram's efforts that paper can console itself in the knowledge that it was because the reputation of the province, its cities and its people was so well established as to be out of its reach.

The hard times are the result of restricted credit, because of weakened confidence. Clearly the only remedy is to strengthen confidence, the confidence of our country but also of the good faith of our citizens. We can only hope to buy time advantageously on the absolute assurance of our ability and willingness to pay. N power on earth—not even the Dominion government—so ardently worshipped by the News-Telegram—can alter that unchangeable law. No doubt provincial and civic expenditure will have to be curtailed, bringing the loosening up of the European money market. This will, of course, affect local industries and commercial continuities adversely. Some deflated deflationary payments on real estate will have to be met in many cases by surrenders of other real estate interests. But on the other hand if we don't borrow we won't have to pay back. If the man who holds real estate for speculation is compelled by circumstances to let go it gives the man who wants to invest for development better opportunity. Alberta's building period for June were over three million dollars compared with Saskatchewan's two, and for the past six months twelve million and millions respectively. The bank statement for June shows 50 millions more loaned by banks of Canada than in June, 1912. One of the leading Edmonton bank branches has a balance of three million more than last year, and the figures receipts for Edmonton for May were the highest on record. July's receipts to date are equal to the whole of July of last year.

Bank clearings at Edmonton for June were $18,850,991, as compared with $17,155,896 for June of last year.

The reason times are not harder is that confidence has been measurably maintained. The hope of a return of good times is in the renewal of confidence and the only way to a renewal of confidence is by following same business methods. The more completely frenzied finance methods and talk are cut out, the sooner there will be money enough to go round.
